Wale Bakare is a board member of the European At-Large Organization (EURALO) and served as EURALO Secretary between November 2017 - November 2019. I previously served as EURALO representative to the ALAC Financial and Budget Sub-Committee, 2017 to 2019. Membership of the Individual Users' Association https://individualusers.org/board/ [individualusers.org]

Wale Bakare ICANN meetings as well as the United Nations' Internet Governance Forum (IGF) 2017 in Geneva, Switzerland. Mr. Bakare proposed a workshop on behalf of EURALO titled: "Internet-of-Things (IoT) and Governance Challenges Ahead".
Wale Bakare is keen on the development of internet policy processes that would spur the impacts of internet technologies, for the end-users. Wale was one of the participants in the IANA stewardship transition from the US government to the global multistakeholder community, between 2012 and 2014.

Wale Bakare works with DXC Technology (former HP Enterprise) as a Tech Lead/Manager (Digital Transformation for the UK government's agency) in the United Kingdom. I work with external and internal stakeholders on Europe's government's largest digital transformation project. I am also working as a Technical Consultant with GLG Consulting Management Inc and as a Technical Consultant for the Electronics Business News (EBN), part of UBM Inc. I have worked in different industries like energy service, telecommunications in the UK. I also worked in Africa, Nigeria in telecommunications, and education service sectors.

Wale Bakare's admitted studying Business Sustainability course at the Harvard Business School, Harvard University, 2020 [ongoing].
Mr. Bakare obtained an MSc degree in Embedded Computer Systems Engineering from Northumbria University Newcastle upon Tyne, United Kingdom 2008. Wale also studied a certificate course in Project Planning & Initiation at the University of California, Irvine, the United States of America in 2016. Wale Bakare studied certificate course in User Innovation; focuses on Democratisation of Information at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the United States of America in 2015