14:01:07 From Abdeldjalil Bachar Bong to Everyone:
	here few updates From YAZID of Technical Engagement TEAM He won't be able to join us today:
	thanks to the support of Christelle ASSIROU (an AFRALO member) who has been instrumental in helping to resume our collaboration with operators in Côte d'Ivoire for DNSSEC validation following an update that I provided few moths ago at an AFRALO monthly call, I am happy to announce that the country has now switched to "green" on Africa map for DNSSEC validation. This has been achieved after Orange Côte d'Ivoire, the largest operator in the country, has successfully activated this validation on their DNS recursive resolvers in July. The country is now showing a global validation rate above 75%, while they were around 20%: https://stats.labs.apnic.net/dnssec/CI.
14:01:10 From Abdeldjalil Bachar Bong to Everyone:
	OCTO TE has recently conducted few engagement activities in Ghana (hands-on), Kenya and Malawi, and has also provided technical assistance in the CDA project DNSSEC Roadshow onsite activities in Cameroon and Nigeria.
	We are currently supporting a certain number of DNS operators in the region to join KINDNS initiative and others to activate DNSSEC validation. We are also currently planing for hands-on activities in Mauritania and Cape Verde.
	Stay tuned for more updates from our work. Yazid AKANHO, yazid.akanho@icann.org
