Alice Jansen: Welcome to the ATRT2-ASO conference call!

Wilfried Wöber: :-)

Paul D.: hello, all

Brian Cute: We'll start at the top of the hour. Alice please let me know when the recording has started.

Brian Cute: Thx

Alice Jansen: Recording is on. Please proceed.

Steve Crocker: Hello, everyone

Fiona Asonga: Hallo All

Louie Lee (ASO AC Chair): sorry for joining late!

Fiona Asonga: welcome Louie

Brian Cute: Welcome Louie! Good to see you again on ATRT meeting!

Louie Lee (ASO AC Chair): Heh. :) Feels like home.

Hans Petter Holen, ASO AC: My google says: "An act of holding someone closely in one's arms." as the second definition...

Wilfried Wöber: :-)

David Conrad: interesting

Steve Crocker: What is the view of the ASO with respect to the Board's response to past ASO policies presented to the Board for ratification? I don't recall any instances where the Board has pushed back or taken exception to policies presented for ratification. The only issues I can recall related to ASO policies is whether the Board has acted promptly enough, and, at least to my recollection, the delays were due solely to the usual exigencies of overload, vagaries of how various meetings are arranged, etc.

David Conrad: what's_the_first_definition_(adobe_is_screwing_up_my_spacebar)?

Brian Cute: I have David Conrad and Hans Petter in the queue.

Wilfried Wöber: Steve, I do not recall any undue delay or push-back from the Board to any of the global policies forwarded for ratification.

Louie Lee (ASO AC Chair): Me neither, Steve. The Board has even acted to allow acceptance of a global policy in between Board meetings so as not to introduce a delay. The Board should be commended for the effort.

Fiona Asonga: The RIR uses mailing lists as well as input for policy discussion

Hans Petter Holen, ASO AC: (My hanbd was up from last time)

Wilfried Wöber: in the RIPE NCC Region, the mailing lists are the formal vehicle for assessing consensus. There is a review and last-tall
