

Michelle DeSmyter:Dear All, Welcome to the Thick Whois IRT Meeting on Tuesday, 24 January 2017 at 19:00 UTC

Joyce Lin:Do I get a star for being the first in:-)

Daniel Halloran:Yes, Joyce. You do!

Krista Papac:Whoops. Somehow it was showing my name as Dan Halloran-- but it was me, Krista Papac, that said that. Apologies for any confusion.

Joyce Lin:So I did get the star from you Krista?

Krista Papac:Haha! Yes, you did. Congratuations!

Theo Geurts:apologies from Chris Pelling

Joyce Lin:male star and female star are different ?

Michelle DeSmyter:Thank you Theo, I will note Chris' apology

Roger Carney:+1 Francisco

steve metalitz:Doesn't "maintain" also refer to who is responsible for making changes / updates? That is registrar, not registry.

Marc Anderson:can you scroll up so we can see section 2.4?

steve metalitz:It is not within scope of this group to change the long-standing consensus policy re seeking exceptions to Whois obligations, or the procedure adopted to implement that policy.

steve metalitz:long-standing

Krista Papac:@Theo: options, outlined in the legal memo are: consent, Whois Conflicts Procedure, contract amendment. In separate conversation, folks have mentioned model clauses as another option for addressing these concerns. What I'm saying is the Conflicts Procedure is not the only option the legal review found to be available steve metalitz:Support this plan. Can you circulate agenda in advance for future meetings?

Krista Papac:Great suggestion Marc. Thank you

Theo Geurts:+1 marc

Roger Carney:Plan sounds good

Roger Carney:Thanks