

Maryam Bakoshi: Dear all, welcome to the NCSG CCWG Accountability Discussion on Tuesday 28 Feb 2017

Joan Kerr: Hello everyone

Farzaneh Badii: Hi, Robin I cannot speak (mic not working) can you please mention the jurisdiction questionnaire? I will share it on the list

Robin Gross: sure

Farzaneh Badii: for SOAC Accountability we are finalizing the recommendations and if it reaches consensus we will provide the first draft in Copenhagen (well not me, other co-rapps)

Julf Helsingius (NCPH NCA): That sounds very industrial...

Tatiana Tropina: Hi all! Just came from Human Rights call :-)

Farzaneh Badii: Hello Patricia and welcome

Patricia: Hello everyone

Farzaneh Badii: Patricia is our new member! so dedicated, attending NCSG/NCUC meetings from the beginning

Maryam Bakoshi: WS2 “dashboard” at:

Tatiana Tropina: Patricia, welcome welcome! #wave

Patricia: thank you!

Robin Gross: yes, 31 January was our last call

Farzaneh Badii: how are you still alive?

avri doria: i do not think one call will be enough to finish it.

avri doria: confirmed that this is the intention. hard to be sure what might happen.

Tatiana Tropina: Avri might be my reality check on this topic :)

Tatiana Tropina: if I said anything wrong heheeh

Farzaneh Badii: yes it has been distributed Robin

Farzaneh Badii: no I have to do it now

Sam Lanfranco npoc/csih: @Tatiana You did a good job of saying where things are at this point

Farzaneh Badii: I will send it to Maryam

Tatiana Tropina: Thanks Sam!

Farzaneh Badii: Individually

Farzaneh Badii: no

Farzaneh Badii: the deadline is in April. Those affected by ICANN jurisdiction should tell their stories

Farzaneh Badii: and not to be intimidated by the details that the questions ask for. They can be general. worse case scnario they discard the response

Farzaneh Badii: Maryam can you do a dial out I have to come in

Sam Lanfranco npoc/csih: This might help:
<https://community.icann.org/display/WEIA/Jurisdiction+Questionnaire>

Farzaneh Badii: I have a comment

Farzaneh Badii: but I need to get connected first

Maryam Bakoshi: @Farzi, sure

Farzaneh Badii: im in maryam thanks

Edward Morris: +1 Tatiana...Groundhog Day is a perfect analogy!

avri doria: in both the WS2 and the gTLD Subsequent procedures groups, i am beginning to doubt the advantage of working in all of these subteams.

Louise Marie Hurel: yes

avri doria: Tantiana, so in other words we leave the HR Bylaw as meaningless.

Edward Morris: +1 Avri. Add RPM to that list, as well.

avri doria: and we leave Jurisdiction as meaningless,

Julf Helsingius (NCPH NCA): Avri: yes, there seems to be the same issues in many places

avri doria: and we leave Staff Accountablty as meaningless.

Tatiana Tropina: The subgroups end up with the small drafting meats anyway so could have been just a plenary with many small drafting teams, right avri doria: yes, that constantly broguth back, s opposed to the same set of gladiators fighting in every group.

Tatiana Tropina: HR Bylaw will be done :-)

Tatiana Tropina: I mean the Fol.

avri doria: i mane the second doc.

avri doria: first doc is empty

Tatiana Tropina: I am guilty of being a gladiator, though not the same for many groups.

avri doria: you, me, Grec, Kavouss, ...

Tatiana Tropina: We need to come up with a good second doc, and this is what I fought for with the whole HR subgroup few weeks ago.

Tatiana Tropina: and still fighting.....

avri doria: though yes, you are engaged with fewer of the groups.

Tatiana Tropina: Farzy

avri doria: no, not for SOAC

Tatiana Tropina: Farzy!

avri doria: that is Farzy

Tatiana Tropina: it's Farz

avri doria: i've got Staff

avri doria: i.e. attempting to turn it into yet another null document

Farzaneh Badii: where applicable we will be accountable

Tatiana Tropina: yes, where applicable :)

Tatiana Tropina: and the difference in our understanding of applicability actually aligns

Tatiana Tropina: aligns

Tatiana Tropina: hehehe

Farzaneh Badii: yes as I said we have to also discuss it with the group in final reading

Farzaneh Badii: I have to go now. I am sorry

Robin Gross: Thanks, Farzi!

Tatiana Tropina: Rafik seems to be online?

Tatiana Tropina: I will have to leave in 10 minutes, sorry all....

Tatiana Tropina: Rafik your voice is a very early morning voice :-) avri doria: it is controversial for many who find it disturbing.

avri doria: another group with potential deadlock

avri doria: endless twealiing of a para seems to be a prelude to a recommendation to drop the para.

Tatiana Tropina: Avri, don't ask us how we know (chuckle)

avri doria: if a conclusion can be built on a premise, cancel the premise. it is a strategy we see everywhere.

avri doria: sorry it is a tactic we see everywhere.

avri doria: note: i have not been beyond using that tactic myself at times.

Tatiana Tropina: Have to leave the call - sorry. Thanks you so much Robin for organising this and thanks to all who provided the updates. will read the transcript of the rest of the call - sad to leave now when there is CEP update, but this is life :(bye

Robin Gross: Thanks very much, Tatiana!

Tatiana Tropina: Thanks Robin!!!

avri doria: this is one we need to comment on.

Edward Morris: Very much agree Avri

Joan Kerr: Thank you

Edward Morris: 1st

Edward Morris: Sorry...I now its coming back.

Edward Morris: know

Robin Gross: It seems there are two issues: public comment and also so/ac approval. so a decision needs to be made on each element avri doria: i tried to make that distinction. i think first comment on everything when it is ready. i think final review and charter group approval at the end.

avri doria: ... together at the end.

Edward Morris: +1 Robin

Edward Morris: Consistency checks are very important.
For example, CEP and WS1 IRP implementation.

Joan Kerr: I like that approach Avri.

Edward Morris: Me too.

rafik: both are bad for me :)

avri doria: i may miss the April 4 mtg

avri doria: unless it is in the middle of the night in New Orleans, then i can make it,

rafik: 14:00UTC

avri doria: But his term does not start for months.

avri doria: until it is properly done.

Edward Morris: Thanks Robin.

Julf Helsingius (NCPH NCA): Thank you!

avri doria: thanks

Joan Kerr: Thank you

Patrick Lenihan: Thanks to Each and All!
