Ayden Férdeline: Welcome Michele

Maryam Bakoshi: Welcome Ayden and Michele

Michele Neylon: I'll diall in shortly

Maryam Bakoshi: Thanks

Michele Neylon: 8 minutes to the top of the hour?

Maryam Bakoshi: Yes correct

Raphael Beauregard-Lacroix: im the 450 number

Maryam Bakoshi: Ok thanks, Raphael

Michele Neylon: dialled in

Michele Neylon: yay

Herb Waye Ombuds: Greetings everyone

Raphael Beauregard-Lacroix: hi all

Maryam Bakoshi: Welcome everyone

David McAuley: Hello all, I am here with two Verisign interns, Anna Bosch and Sherry Huang

Raphael Beauregard-Lacroix: yes

David McAuley: we are at phone number ending 3200

Collin Kurre: Hello and welcome to Anna and Sherry!

Collin Kurre: Link to Raphael's article: http://www.circleid.com/posts/20180719_icann_at_a_crossroads_gdpr_and_human_rights /

Michael Karanicolas: "On the internet, nobody knows you're a dog"

Michael Karanicolas: Raphael - 2 minute warning :)

Collin Kurre: Resources about the United Nations Guiding Principles (UNGPs) and business and human rights can be found on BHR's website, here: http://thebhrgroup.com/#newspublications

Collin Kurre: And here's a link to the UNGP itself: https://www.ohchr.org/Documents/Publications/GuidingPrinciplesBusinessHR_EN.pdf

Raphael Beauregard-Lacroix: Thanks Michael for the quote - had the picture in my mind but couldnt remember the exact wording!

Michael Karanicolas: GNI principles: https://globalnetworkinitiative.org/gni-principles/

Michael Karanicolas: And the implementation guidelines are here: https://globalnetworkinitiative.org/implementation-guidelines/

Collin Kurre: As we listen to Michael, it's good to consider how the elements he's mentioning could translate to the ICANN community. For example, when would due diligence factor in? During PDPs, introduction of new specifications, etc

David McAuley: Good point Collin - this got a lot of time in CCWG WS2 HR subteam

Collin Kurre: POtential positive impacts is a good point to remember — Avri made a similar comment when we presented an initial HRIA model in May

David McAuley: Thank you, interesting presentation

Collin Kurre: UNGP adoption in the internet infrastructure industry: https://www.article19.org/resources/public-interest-private-infrastructure/

Collin Kurre: Here's a bit more about A19's project to develop new HRIA models for registries, registrars, and other infrastructure providers: https://www.article19.org/resources/developing-a-human-rights-impact-assessment-model-for-internet-domain-registries/

Raphael Beauregard-Lacroix: sorry all got to run to another meeting. Thanks for the interesting call and feel free to engage further on the list :) best,

Rafik: I am not sure to understand what we mean by "ICANN decision-making processes" here.

Collin Kurre: For example, PDPs, but also the decision-making processes behind advisory commitees' recommendations

Collin Kurre: On Michele's intervention, it's interesting to note that problems of scale go both ways. Big companies operating in many jurisdictions face a certain set of problems in terms of due diligence, but so do small companies that may not have the weight or resources to easily affect change

Michele Neylon: Collin - true - we're 100% Irish based

Michele Neylon: we don't have offices anywhere else

Michele Neylon: (well we do, but we don't)

Collin Kurre: HR Bylaw Framework of Interpretation: https://community.icann.org/display/WEIA/Documents?preview=/59641302/79437270/CCWG-Accountability-WS2-HumanRight-FinalReport-20171106%5B1%5D.pdf

Michael Karanicolas: Fully agree that it's important to read ICANN's responsibilities through the lens of its crucial, but limited, role.

Collin Kurre: Great point about leverage and remit, David.

David McAuley: And good point by Michele about terminology

Michael Karanicolas: Defining the scope of human rights is also crucial, I think.

Michael Karanicolas: Michael Samway mentioned the UDHR as a key guiding principle there.

Collin Kurre: https://icannhumanrights.net/wp-content/uploads/2018/05/DRAFT-ICANN-HRIA-questionnaire-model.pdf

Michael Karanicolas: But I would note that, while freedom of expression and the right to privacy would naturally be expected to be the main focuses of an HRIA in ICANN's context, that doesn't mean that other human rights will never be relevant

David McAuley: I will have to leave in a few minutes

Michael Karanicolas: In my opinion, transparency is where this all starts. Comprehensive, timely and accurate information is critical to assessment and accountability.

David McAuley: Great conversation and presentations

David McAuley: Thanks Michael and Collin

Herb Waye Ombuds: Thanks everyone, very interesting

Collin Kurre: Any other questions or reflections can be shared on the list!
