

The background is a solid blue color. In the center, there is a complex network diagram consisting of numerous interconnected nodes and lines, resembling a globe or a web. Surrounding this central diagram are various faint, semi-transparent icons related to technology and business, such as a laptop, a smartphone, a camera, a lightbulb, a gear, a plant, and a stack of papers.

Connecting the next billions

By: Pablo Hinojosa
@lphinojosa
APIGA, Seoul, Korea
8/8/2016

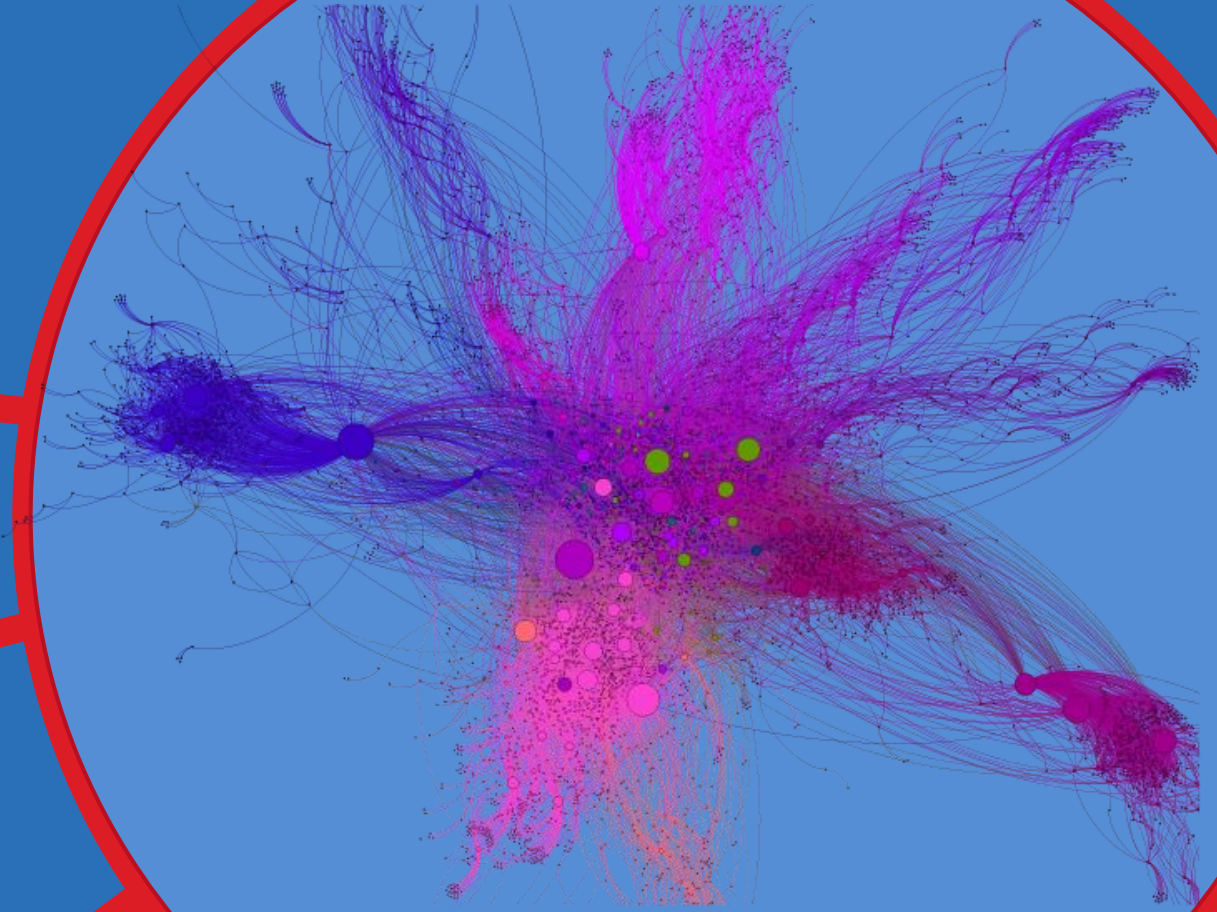

GROWTH

Asia-Pacific

APNIC

Asia-Pacific

Sustained global uptake

Percentage of world population with Internet

The first billion users was reached in 2005

The second billion users was reached in 2010

The third billion has been reached in 2015

Global Internet Users by year

Mobile Broadband Subscriptions

LTE WCDMA/HSPA

Devices connect to the Internet

There are more than

6X

Internet-connected devices
globally than people

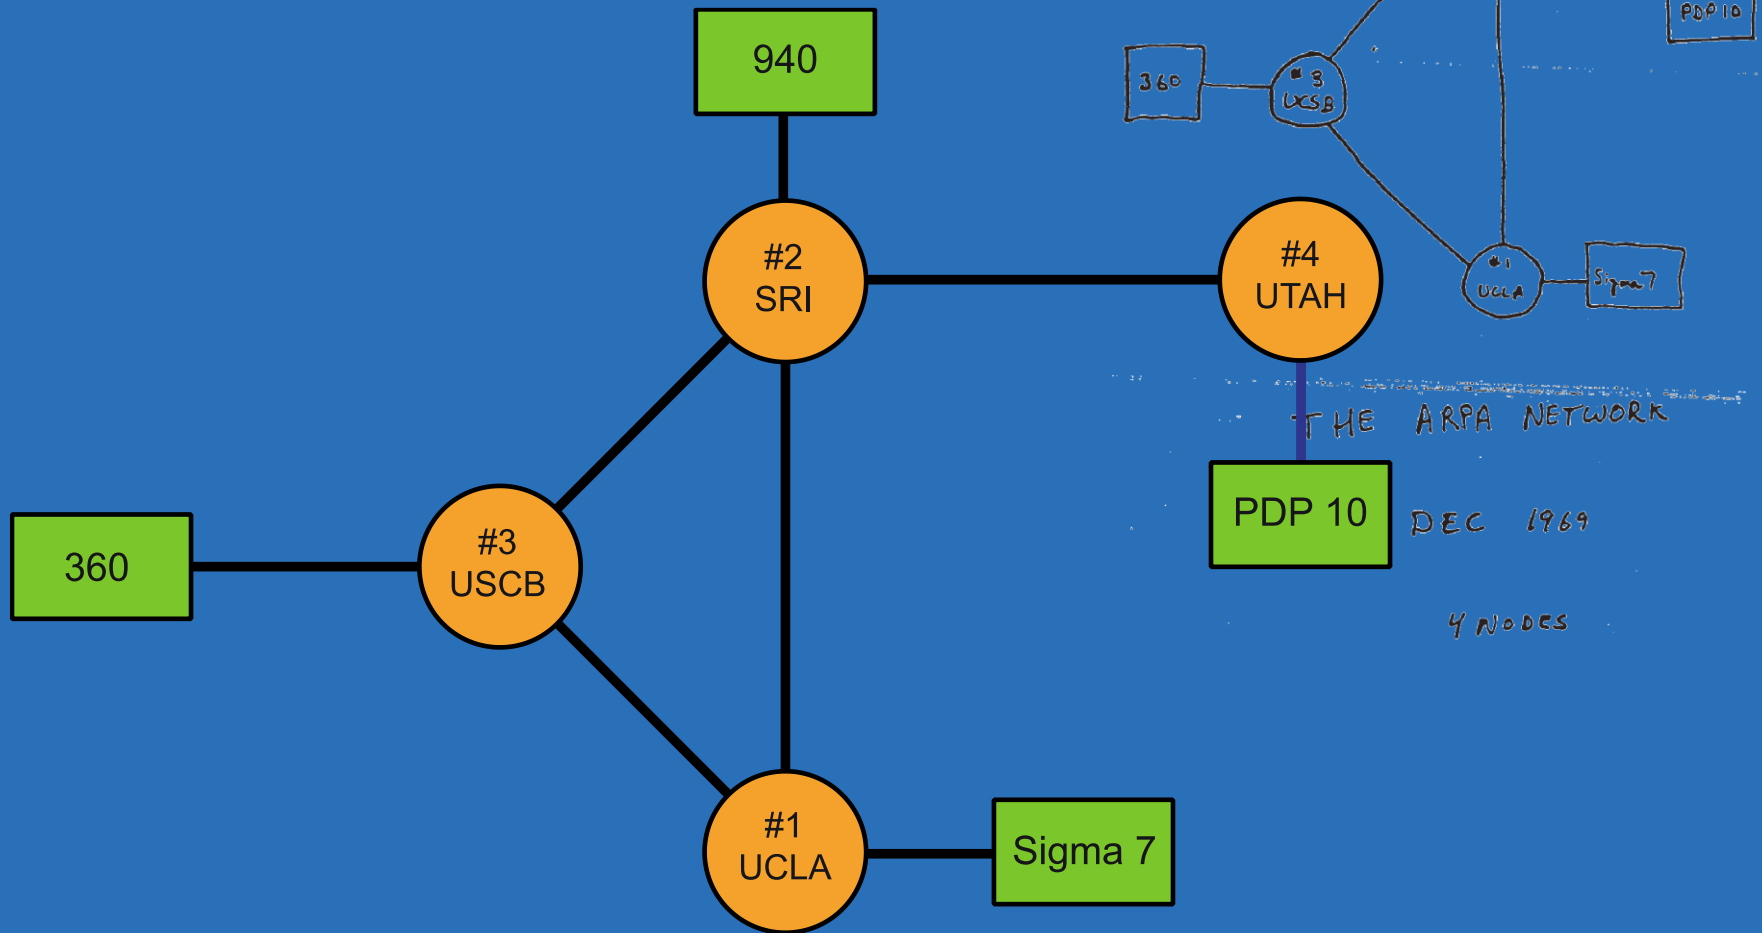

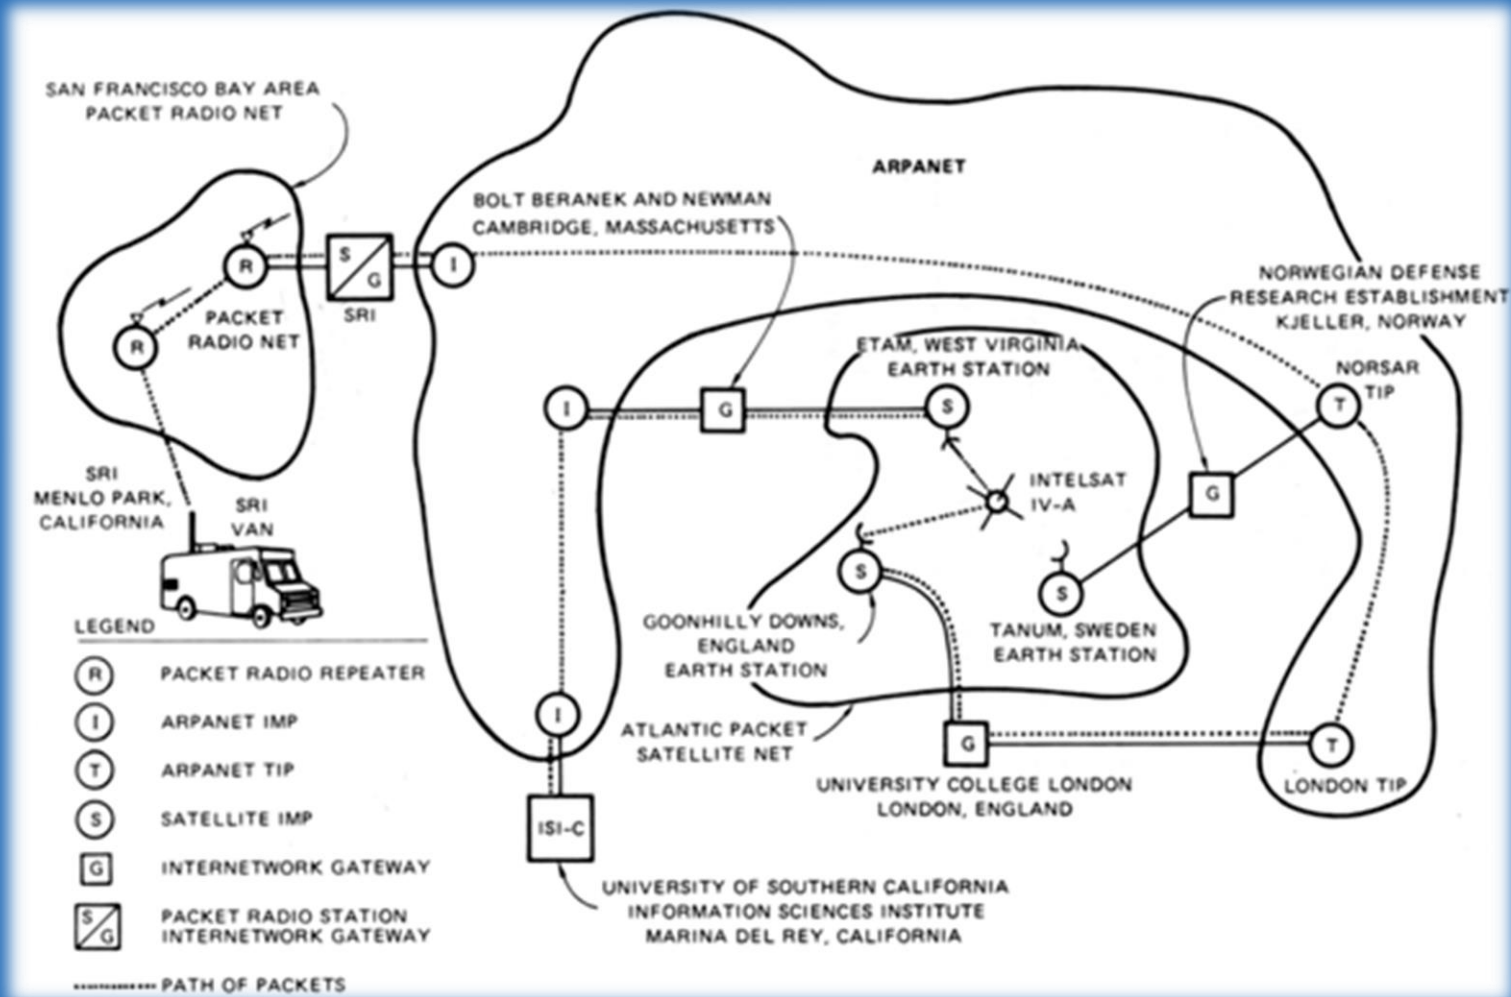

DESIGN

Internet in the 60's

Internet in the 70's

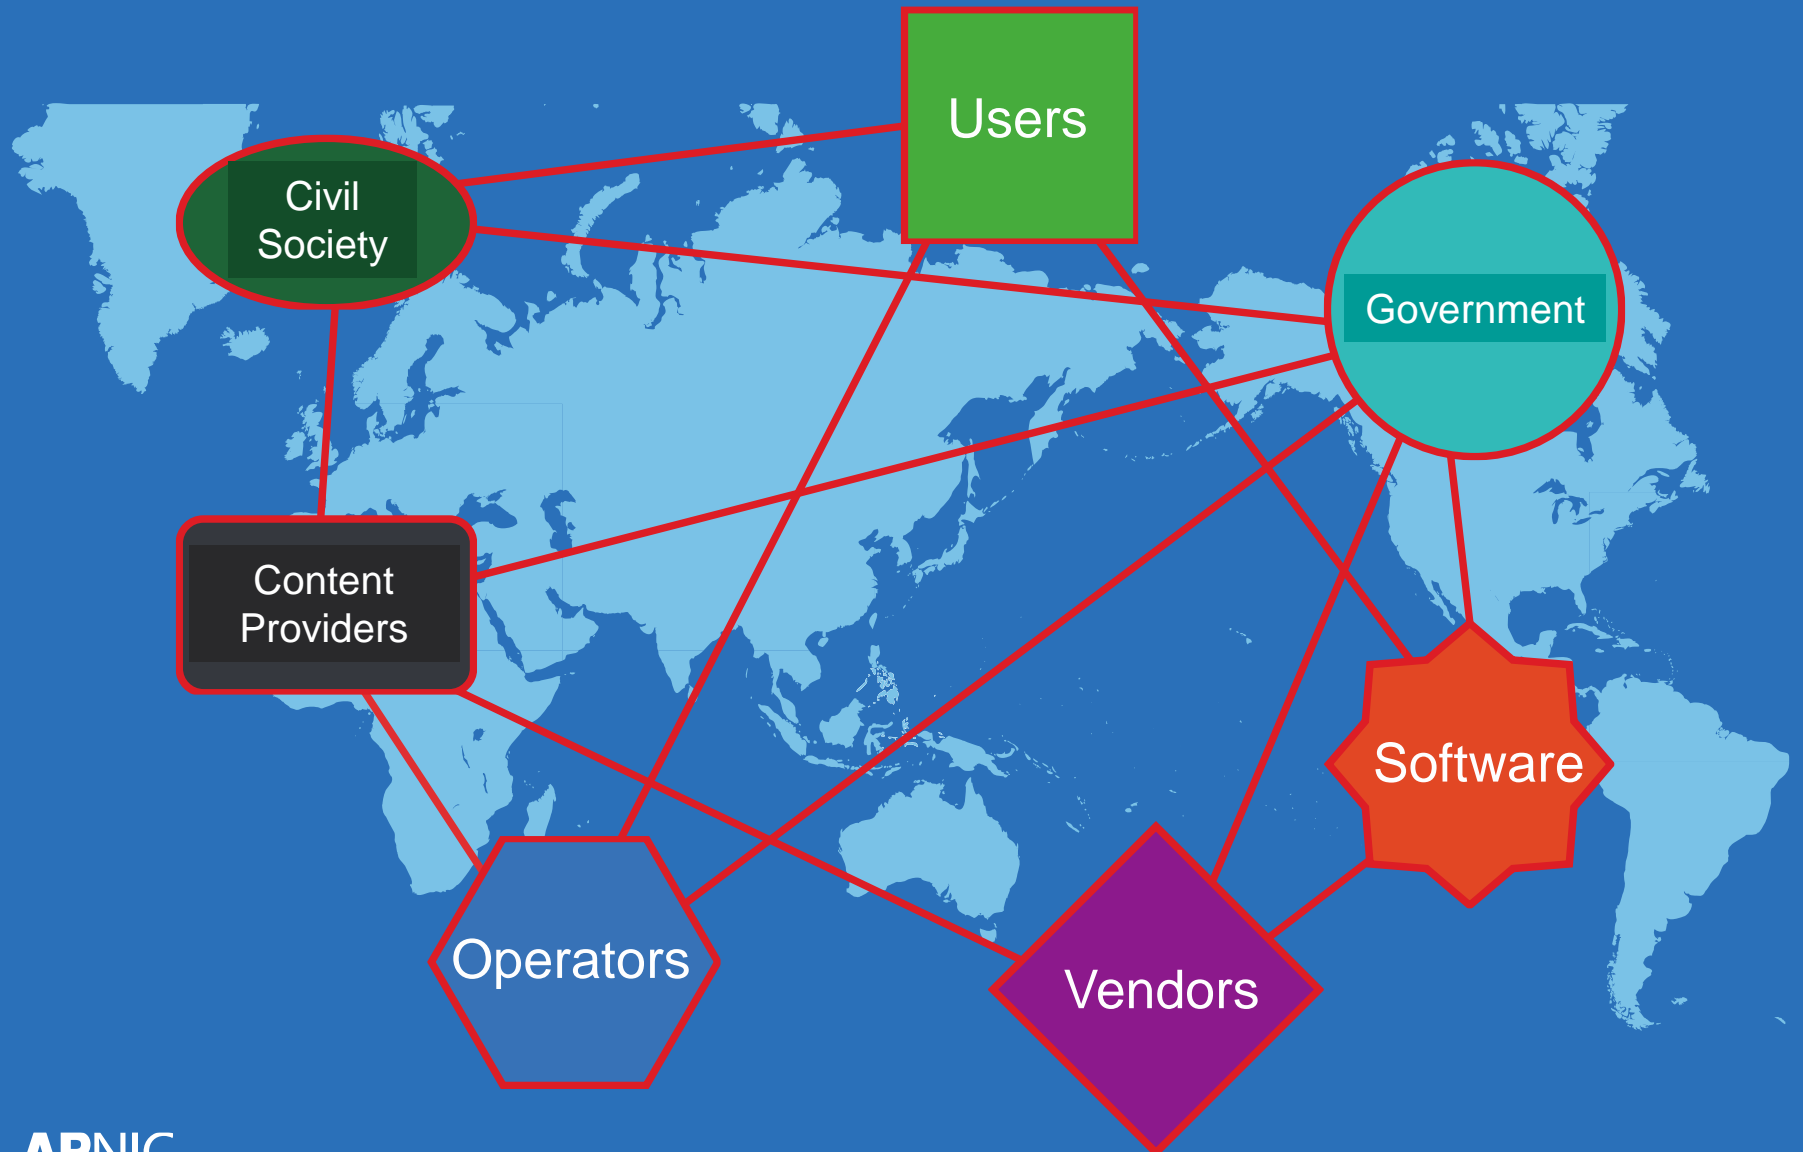

Internet goes mobile (1976)

The Packet Radio Van

Internet Ecosystem

I* Ecosystem

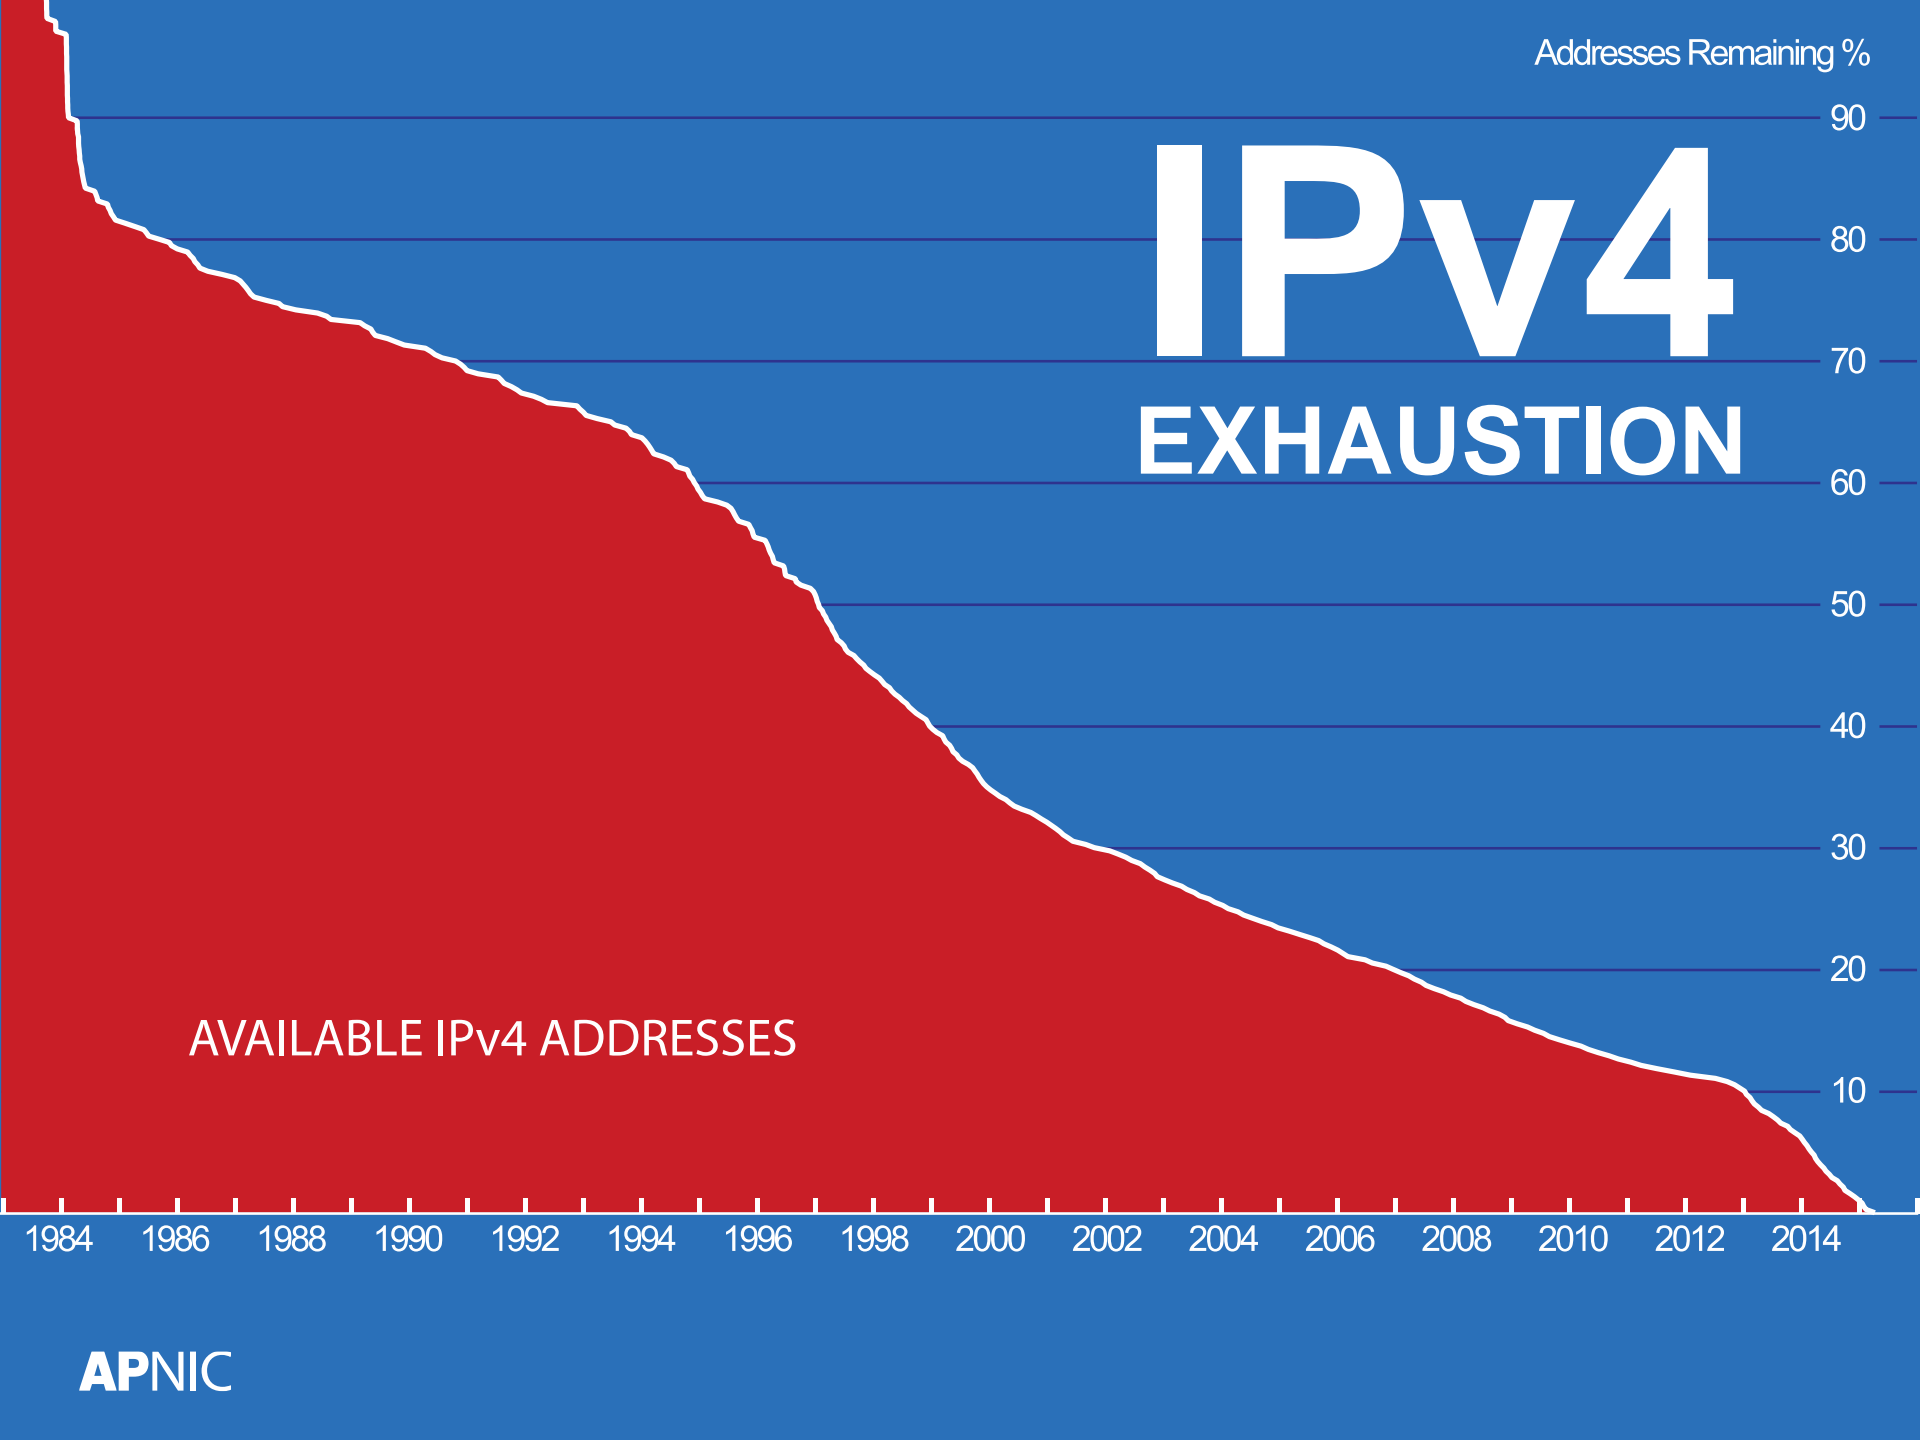

Addresses Remaining %

IPv4 EXHAUSTION

AVAILABLE IPv4 ADDRESSES

1984 1986 1988 1990 1992 1994 1996 1998 2000 2002 2004 2006 2008 2010 2012 2014

SHOCK HORROR

FUTURE

APNIC

the call for IPv6

IPv6 provides

340,282,366,920,
938,463,463,374,607,
431,768,211,456

addresses

Users %

SLOW but STEADY IPv6 ADOPTION

% of USERS ACCESSING
GOOGLE OVER IPv6

