

Motivation: As leader of the team at Afilias directly responsible for the resolution of many Top Level Domains (representing millions of registrants), I am very interested in working on any risk assessment and mitigation using best practices. With threats ever-present and persistent on the Internet, I feel it imperative to do everything we can as technologists and professionals to help ensure this critical function continues to operate in a stable, secure manner. I am also co-chair of the DNS Risk Assessment Working Group for the US IT Sector Coordinating Council.
