

I do not know. My client base engages in work that directly impacts ICANN, such as SSR in the Internet, and the DNS in particular; awareness about ICANN in developing countries, and larger threats and risks to the Internet that are applicable to ICANN, and ICANN activities that occur at the national level in developing countries. I serve as an advisor to several ICT associations and a couple of NGOs engaged in capacity building in developing countries. Their interest to apply for funding will depend on what the funded categories are. In my individual capacity, I do not plan to apply for funding. I am applying to participate in the CCWG because I think that the discussions will benefit from additional input from business users, and someone who has been involved in ICANN since its inception.
