Hello all,

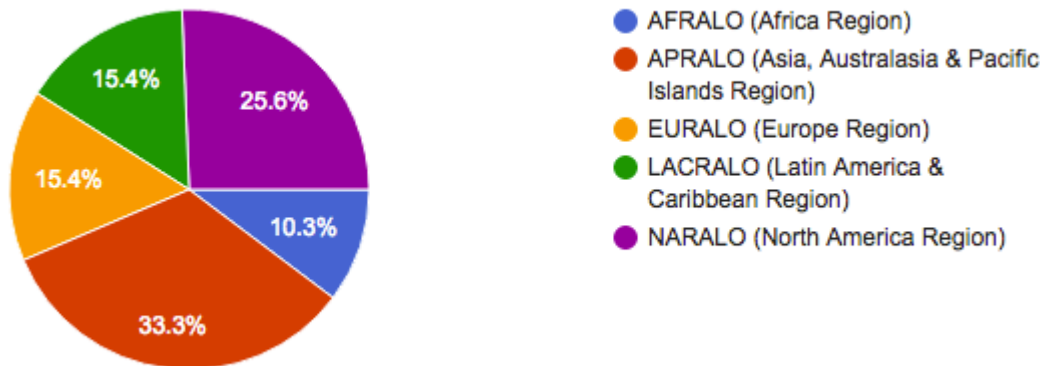

A quick word to say that we now have over 100 responses to the online survey. This is a very healthy and encouraging response rate two weeks after the survey was launched. Responses are spread nicely across geographic regions, in a way that corresponds to Internet/DNS usage. We also have a good distribution of responses from the representatives of different segments of the At-Large and broader ICANN system, as well as from ICANN long-term “insiders” and relative newcomers.

We are starting the process of extrapolating findings, and we’ll give you an overview of the survey process during the call with the Review Working Party next week.

In the meantime we shall be keeping the communication pressure up to urge as many At-Large Community members as possible to take part. Your help in this regard would be much appreciated! Don’t hesitate to remind the members of the groups / constituencies / working parties to which you belong of the importance of participating!

Looking forward to talking to you soon,

Tom Mackenzie

Note: This pie chart is drawn from the English version of the survey. We have not yet integrated the results from the French and Spanish versions of the survey which will slightly increase the response rate from the Africa and LAC regions.
