Waudou: (07:50) hi all

Drew: (08:03) Hello, I may drop

Drew: (08:03) for a moment and return

Carlton Samuels: (08:03) Morning all

Jean-Baptiste Deroulez: (08:03) good morning

Jean-Baptiste Deroulez: (08:03) @Drew no problem

Jonathan Zuck: (08:04) these waiting periods on calls are foley artist's dream

Waudou: (08:06) Im in a hotel lobby so will be mainly using the chat

Gaongalelwe Mosweu (PC): (08:06) Good day everyone

Carlton Samuels: (08:07) I'm in the conference centre at Montego Bay so will be on but background might be noisy

Carlton Samuels: (08:09) But Waudou, 'dramatic increase in choice' in terms of strings availability is still fact. What we must temper this by saying given the feeling of defensive registrations then that tempers 'choice' with an element of compulsion

Carlton Samuels: (08:12) For me the most telling response is the significant indication of defensive registrations. Which would mean the registration volumes we see when coupled with the parking volumes is a significant development.

Carlton Samuels: (08:14) @Jonathan: Exctly! So the next thing is to look for changes in the response mechanisms: C&D, Rapid Suspension requests etc.

Waudou: (08:16) can you hear me?

Jordyn A Buchanan: (08:16) No.

Brenda Brewer: (08:16) Phone number xxx-xxx-9626 please identify name for attendance. Thank you!

Waudu: (08:16) Ill type

Carlton Samuels: (08:17) My line is VERY noisy

Carlton Samuels: (08:18) @Jordyn: Yes, it is about cost, not so much about choice

Waudu: (08:19) I just wanted to add that there is a fundamental element we need to reflect in our report coming from the INTA study: all along the assumption was that Choise is a "good" thing, something positive. But the INTA study (slide 15) shows this is not necessarily so. In fact for Trademark owners the more the choce the worse the situation. We need to indicate that situation somewhere in our report, that Choice can be negative for some domain users

Jonathan Zuck: (08:21) we cna hear you

Gaongalelwe Mosweu (PC): (08:21) yes we hear you

Jordyn A Buchanan: (08:21) Waudu, yes I think we can add some text saying for this class of registrant new gTLD registrations are largely a cost instead of a choice.

Jonathan Zuck: (08:21) I guess you can't hear us

Carlton Samuels: (08:23) @Waudu OK. I think that would be judicious but let's not go down too heavy on this. Especially when we examine that cost in terms of total cost of doing business.

Carlton Samuels: (08:23) Carols is not on but he flageed a conversation on the NCUC list that might be of interest.

Carlton Samuels: (08:24) I will forward to Lauren now

David Taylor: (08:27) I lost sound for 30 seconds then with Jordyn speaking. Not sure if just me.

Eleeza Agopian: (08:28) I haven't lost him at all.

Waudu: (08:34) Are there any renewable longer periods than 1 year, e.g. 5 years

Jordyn A Buchanan: (08:35) Yes, all domains can be registered for 1-10 years

Eleeza Agopian: (08:35) In that case, Jordyn should we begin the renewal rate calculations?

Gaongalelwe Mosweu (PC): (08:35) @Jordyn, and there are often incentives for the first year of registration... Sometimes free and sometimes ridiculously low

Carlton Samuels: (08:38) @ Lauren: Given the criticism in the NCSG email thread about Shadow Regulation, and despite the hostility expressed there to the GAC, I'm thinking we should be looking again at the Safeguards recommendation section to ensure everyone addressed a committed safeguard

Carlton Samuels: (08:39) It also pick on recommendations fopr more data, inexplicably those pertaining pricing

Jordyn A Buchanan: (08:41) @Eleeza, let me follow up on the thread with Antoinetta, but I think yes.

Eleeza Agopian: (08:41) ok, great. Thanks.

Gaongalelwe Mosweu (PC): (08:47) yes Jonathan

Carlton Samuels: (08:47) Good enough, yes

Jordyn A Buchanan: (08:48) I have to drop off Adobe now and probably the call in a few. Let me know if there's anything else I need to follow up on.

Drew: (08:51) I need to drop off. Great updates! Thanks everyone.

Kaili Kan: (08:53) Bye!

Carlton Samuels: (08:53) Thanks all
