Alex Deacon:No audio from volker....

Michelle DeSmyter:no

Greg DiBiase:no audio

steve metalitz:can't hear Volker

Michelle DeSmyter:I will send him a private chat

Volker Greimann:the room shows me it is hearing me

Volker Greimann:the microphone is animated when   speak

Vicky Sheckler:apologies for being late

Michelle DeSmyter:Welcome Vicky!

Volker Greimann:both

Volker Greimann:but for affiliated it should be covered by the data already on file for the affiliated party

Vicky Sheckler:+1 alex

Alex Deacon:Yes volker agree 100% with affiliated p/p providers.

Volker Greimann:I covered all of generally

Vicky Sheckler:agree w/ Steve Metalitz

Vicky Sheckler:susan raises a good point

Alex Deacon:It seems to me that any changes to the existing registrar background screening process would increase costs (and fees) vs. lower them.   economies of scale and the like....

Alex Deacon:@susan +1

Susan Kawaguchi:Thanks Amy good to know

Volker Greimann:I wouuld never do that, Susan steve metalitz:@Volker, crowdsourcing the background check (as you just proposed) was considered and rejected in the new gTLD process

Volker Greimann:Steve: But that was for TLD Operatoors, not privacy services

Vicky Sheckler:agree with Susan.

Leana Melnichuk:i agree with susan

Volker Greimann:there is a different quality of trust needed

Vicky Sheckler:disagree volker - same if not more trust is needed

Susan Kawaguchi:also do not agree with crowd sourcing background check

Volker Greimann:@Vichy: You need more trust in a privacy provider than a registry operator? Seriously?

Susan Kawaguchi:@ Volker at least the same level

Vicky Sheckler:trust is needed not just for internet users generally, but also for the registrants that rely on the p/p service.

Sara Bockey:FYI - I need to drop for another meeting in about 5 mins.

Volker Greimann:^_^

steve metalitz:@Volker, agree that not all of these would be published, but the labeling needs to be such that third parties can know that a particular registration iS a p/p registration

Vicky Sheckler:agree w/ metalitz

Vicky Sheckler:what are ICANN's costs - fee shouldn't be less than ICANN costs to evaluate the application.

Leana Melnichuk:Vicky you are making a good point

Amy Bivins:@Vicky--we are working on some numbers to share with the group

Leana Melnichuk:clarification, the costs should not be more than ICANN costs

Volker Greimann:some do charge, some don't. it depends on how transparent you are with your prices steve metalitz:@Theo, how many p/p registrations do you have in your portfolio?

Theo Geurts:around 20k, with the GDPR in affect we expect our resellers that 1 million people will use it.

Vicky Sheckler:if p/p is a loss leader, then need to consider revenue affiliated providers obtain from other services in ocnsider whether a cost for accrediation is high

Vicky Sheckler:@volker, wouldn't that jusst end up wiht your registar fees going up?

Volker Greimann:Or less ALAC travel slots

steve metalitz:@ Volker --- "Community pays" = "registrants pay," since vast bulk of ICANN budget comes from gTLD registrants.

Volker Greimann:@Steve, ultimately this would be the case, although the cost will not be noticable

Volker Greimann:the ICANN budget has a lot of potential for savings steve metalitz:@ Theo, so annual fee = 20 cents per p/p customer now, 4/100ths of a cent per customer in future......   And note that I also question the basis for the 4k annual fee

Volker Greimann:@Steve: Or more, in case of new gTLDs

Theo Geurts:Steve, I am of the view that the right to privacy is a human right and should not be charged.

Philip Corwin:Whoever pays, fee levels should be set at no higher than cost recovery (noting that some experience with the program may be required to fully determine new ICANN costs).

  steve metalitz:+1 Phil
  Vicky Sheckler:congratulations amy!!
  Theo Geurts:Good luck Amy!
  Alex Deacon:Congratulations Amy!
  steve metalitz:All the best to you Amy!!
  Lisa Villeneuve:Best wishes!
  Philip Corwin:Best wishes Amy
  Eric Rokobauer:Congratulations!!!!!
