  Osvaldo Novoa:Hello all
  Heather Forrest:Thanks, Julie - do we have our chair Thomas?
  Thomas Rickert:Hi all!
  Jeff Neuman:FYI, I will need to drop after the first 60 mins
  Julie Bisland:thank you, Jeff
  Julie Bisland:Welcome Poncelet Ileleji
  Poncelet Ileleji:Thanks Julie, Hello All
  Jeff Neuman:We also need to limit the names to 63 characters or less
  Jeff Neuman:And we need to be consist on how we handle spaces
  Jeff Neuman:Is a space referenced in the DNS as "-" or "_" or just joining the letters together without any characters
  Jeff Neuman:Does the algorithm also convery the IDNs into punycode according to the generally accepted language tables?
  Julie Bisland:@Stephane, it doesnt seem you have audio

Julie Bisland:would you like a dial out?

Stéphane Hankins:a small prb...

Julie Bisland:we can hear you, yes

Jeff Neuman:yes

Julie Bisland:Stephane is callin in as well, I will mute his AC

Jeff Neuman:at the end of the day, we just need the final list. Once that final list is developed then we can go to the council with our recommendation. But we should not do this piecemeal

Jeff Neuman:The burden of the list should be on those seeking the protections and not be put on the registries (in my opinion)

Berry Cobb:@Jeff, that is the plan. This WG adopts the final definitive list; after approvals by Council and Board, GDD will convert this list to the standard XML file found on Spec 5 and then the Registries will implement it based on current protocol as defined today.

Berry Cobb:The PDF is now un-synced for you to scroll through.

Jeff Neuman:ok. My concern was that the ask was going to be to protect these, then wait for the next submission of the next 12, then the next 12, etc. This should all be implemented at once

Berry Cobb:@Jeff - negative. All done at one with all 192 NS Identifiers.

Berry Cobb:once

Jeff Neuman:So, the only ask now is whether we are ok with this methodology for developing the chart? If that is the question, then from my standpoint I am fine, but i also defer to the others as well

Jeff Neuman:We also need to decide what to do in the rare case that the names are already registered

Jeff Neuman:And what to do if these societies actually want the names

Jeff Neuman:Other than that, I am not sure we need to spend the rest of the 90 minutes talking about the chart

Berry Cobb:@Jeff - the procedures for if a name is already registered and if a Society wants a name have already been defined with the latest IGO-INGO Policy just released from the IRT.

Jeff Neuman:right

Jeff Neuman:So, is there anything else you need from us

Berry Cobb:For example, "(Red Cresent)" in this list would be considered out of scope, even though the Azerbaijan society is also recognized.

Berry Cobb:The GNSO Recommendation for reserving Red Cross, Red Cresent has already been implemented by the IRT and the Consnesus Policy has been posted with a Policy Effective Date in August 2018.

Julie Bisland:Welcome Greg Shatan (on audio only)

Jeff Neuman:Under the scope of our work, do we have the right to rcommend the protection of the "commonly known" names? If we do, then so long as this is clearly defined and the list is specifically deliniated, I am ok. Provided that the commonly known name is not an acronymn

Heather Forrest:Thanks, Thomas, for focusing on the scope of the mandate like this

Berry Cobb:https://urldefense.proofpoint.com/v2/url?u=https-3A__www.redcross.se_&d=DwIFaQ&c=FmY1u3PJp6wrcrwll3mSVzgfkbPSS6sJms7xcl4I5cM&r=QiF-05YzARosRvTYd84AB_UYInlydmFcjNmBM5XgySw&m=RiuzV4d8-fHWqRHtpKFb2wCMMK7mxZecbEtWIg3bGo4&s=-Y-T_6Wv4O5LuskVjFIsY5wm62YhHPwi_QU3_2jhj3k&e=

Jeff Neuman:I wouldnt rely on logos since we do not protect design marks (yet) for anyone. But if in the press they are just known as the Swedish Red Cross that is fine. Lets look for text evidence not logos

Jeff Neuman:Greg is making my point as well

Jeff Neuman:Its like Greg was reading my comments :)

Heather Forrest:+1 Greg, and very well explained

Jeff Neuman:I need to drop, but my final thoughts (1) lets produce the final list, (2) lets check the scope to make sure it can be expanded to the commonly known names, (3) and there should be textual evidence of commonly known names, not logos

Jeff Neuman:Thanks all

Chuck Gomes:Let's not forget to address Jeff's earlier point about what to do with any already registered names. I don't think that is a hard problem because processes have been used to deal with such situations in the past.

Berry Cobb:@Chuck - This has been accounted for with the most recent release of IGO-INGO Protections Consnesus Policy. In short, if a name is already registered, it can only become reserved at a future time only after it traverses the domain name lifecycle. Meaning that once it approaches Pending Delete would the Registry be required to block it from registration in EPP.

Chuck Gomes:Exactly Berry

Heather Forrest:Option 2 with Berry's monthly update sounds sensible to me

Heather Forrest:with the proviso that we're working to a reasonable pace to be able to wind up this work before end 2018

Chuck Gomes:Option 2 (b) sounds good to me.

Poncelet Ileleji:concurred

Chuck Gomes: A month and a half seems fine.

Heather Forrest:Stephane's proposed timeline is helpful. In its recent meeting in Los Angeles the GNSO Council undertook strategic planning for the year and raised the question as to whether this reconvened PDP could be wound up by mid-year

Heather Forrest:THanks, Berry- exactly

Chuck Gomes:Thanks all

Berry Cobb:All good

Heather Forrest:Thank you Thomas and Berry!

Heather Forrest:+1 Berry, not prudent to shorten the public comment period

Heather Forrest:thanks everyone

Berry Cobb:Thanks all.
