

Nadira Al-Araj Statement to the nomination for APRALO Delegate to the ALAC NomCom 2019 position.

In my interested in having another year at the NomCom 2019, because I find myself able to continue with my constructive solutions and support of the improvements of the selection processes. My experience with the NomCom is so rich from all aspects and being up to the standard with other senior professionals from all ICANN stakeholders.

As I'm writing this statement, I'm going through a new, unfamiliar stage in the NomCom round. At this stage, I do have a clear idea of what we will be doing remotely, but that doesn't stop me from being worried about the possible challenges of Internet/electricity/telephone line interruptions at my end, that disrupt my effective participation.

I've been into different nominating committees with different organizations, but with ICANN NomCom I found the role is time consuming and members has to allocate enough time to accomplish well the task allocated to them. Being a freelance and working from home, I still can afford to dedicate many hours of my time to the NomCom.

If I, to be selected for the second year, my efforts will not be scattered between learning about what to do at the NomCom and how to be careful in the assessment and discussions of the applicants. Now, I have mastered the process, particularly when I contributed to it. I also have a better understanding of the requirements of each position. Even I have good awareness of the current concerns of ICANN as an organization. All this will make me efficient in my time management to the NomCom and to ICANN community as well.

I also can render my passion in the coaching skills to familiarize new NomCom members with the selection procedures.

Ending my statement with my continued dedicated effort to the ICANN community and to the global public interest through the role of the NomCom.
