Shahram Soboutipour

Individual

I am Shahram Soboutipour, a former member of GNSO IDN WG. I have a PhD in Medical Sciences, and currently acting as the CEO of Karmania Technology Inc, a software development company located in Iran, but have personal interests in Domain Names Area and ICANN related topics.

I am also a member of the Advisory Council of Public Interest Registry (.ORG) Participating in global activities in Domain Name Industry and Internet Governance is my point of interest and due to my 7 year experience in IT field, and also my academic knowledge, I believe that there might be several aspects of internet related activities which are still not noted by constituencies.

Interest/Reason is specifically indicated above in first paragraph.

None.
